The Governor of the Central Bank of Armenia, Martin Galstyan, and the Deputy Governor, Armen Nurbekyan, participated in the Tbilisi Finance Summit 2025, held in Tbilisi on October 22–23.

The event brought together leaders from regional central banks, representatives of the financial sector, and experts from international organizations to discuss global and regional financial developments, macroeconomic challenges, and the role of innovation in the financial sector.

Governor Martin Galstyan participated in a panel discussion on “Macroeconomic and Geopolitical Dialogue: Future Outlook”, addressing global macroeconomic trends and prospects for strengthening regional cooperation.

Deputy Governor Armen Nurbekyan, in the panel discussion “The Next Innovation Cycle in Financial Services”, presented the Central Bank’s digital innovation initiatives, directions of application of financial technologies and their role in promoting financial inclusion.

The summit served as an important platform for sharing experiences, strengthening regional cooperation, and shaping policies aimed at the sustainable development of financial systems.
