On February 4, the “Amundi Investment Outlook 2026: Keep it Turning” investment forum, organized by Amundi, took place.

The forum brought together leading representatives of the banking, financial, and investment sectors, aiming to foster professional dialogue and the exchange of views on global developments.

Within the framework of the event, Martin Galstyan, Governor of the Central Bank of Armenia, Jean Mazedjian, CEO of Amundi-Acba, and Vincent Mortier, Amundi Group CIO and Deputy CEO of Amundi Asset Management, took part in a panel discussion addressing geopolitical and macroeconomic developments, as well as their impact on financial markets and the investment environment.

In his remarks, the Governor of the Central Bank spoke about the key risks facing the global economy, highlighting persistent inflation, slowing growth in advanced economies, and increasing geopolitical polarization. He emphasized that central banks need to reconsider traditional policy-making approaches under conditions of heightened uncertainty, noting that Armenia has introduced a new risk-management framework in its monetary policy and has increased the level of transparency.

During the forum, Vincent Mortier, Amundi Group CIO and Deputy CEO of Amundi Asset Management, presented the global investment outlook for 2026.
