A new “Statistical Overview” page will be available on the CBA website

18.03.2026

A new page will now be available under the “Statistical Publications” subsection of the “Statistics” section on the official website of the Central Bank of Armenia. This page will present key statistical indicators of Armenia’s economy and financial system through graphical visualizations.

The new format will enable users to access important statistical data more quickly and intuitively, including exchange rate dynamics, indicators of economic activity and inflation, data on financial markets and the banking system, as well as other key statistical information.

The data will be updated on a weekly basis, allowing users to continuously monitor current developments in the economy and the financial system.

The Central Bank of Armenia will continue to expand access to statistical data and improve its presentation formats to ensure more transparent and user-friendly communication of information.
